Myra T: Artist Reflection for American Muslim Futures

FULL TRANSCRIPT (without timecode)

A just future to me looks like freedom. Freedom to speak a different language out in public and not feel awkward or feel the need to justify why I'm speaking in my native tongue. A just future looks like me feeling secure or walking outside in my hijab, my religious covering, and not feeling like I could be attacked.

A just future to me is feeling safe as an Afro Latina Muslim woman. That my Blackness isn't going to be seen as a weapon. That my womanness is not going to be attacked or seen as a vulnerability but a strength. And that's what a just future would look like to me.
